

OVERVIEW

The Professional Speakers Association of Southern Africa (PSASA) is the ideal organisation for people who have existing public speaking skills – at any level – and the aspiration to use those skills on a more regular, professional and often commercial basis.

PARTNERS

The PSASA is keen to explore formal partnerships to the benefit of its members and the growth of the speaking profession.

Our current formal partnerships include:

MEMBERS

Affiliate members

Professionals, leaders, entrepreneurs and other business people who use speaking to promote their products or missions but are not necessarily intending to become professional speakers.

Student members

People between the ages of 18 and 25 who already on a professional career path and who want to develop their speaking skills beyond the basics.

Associate members

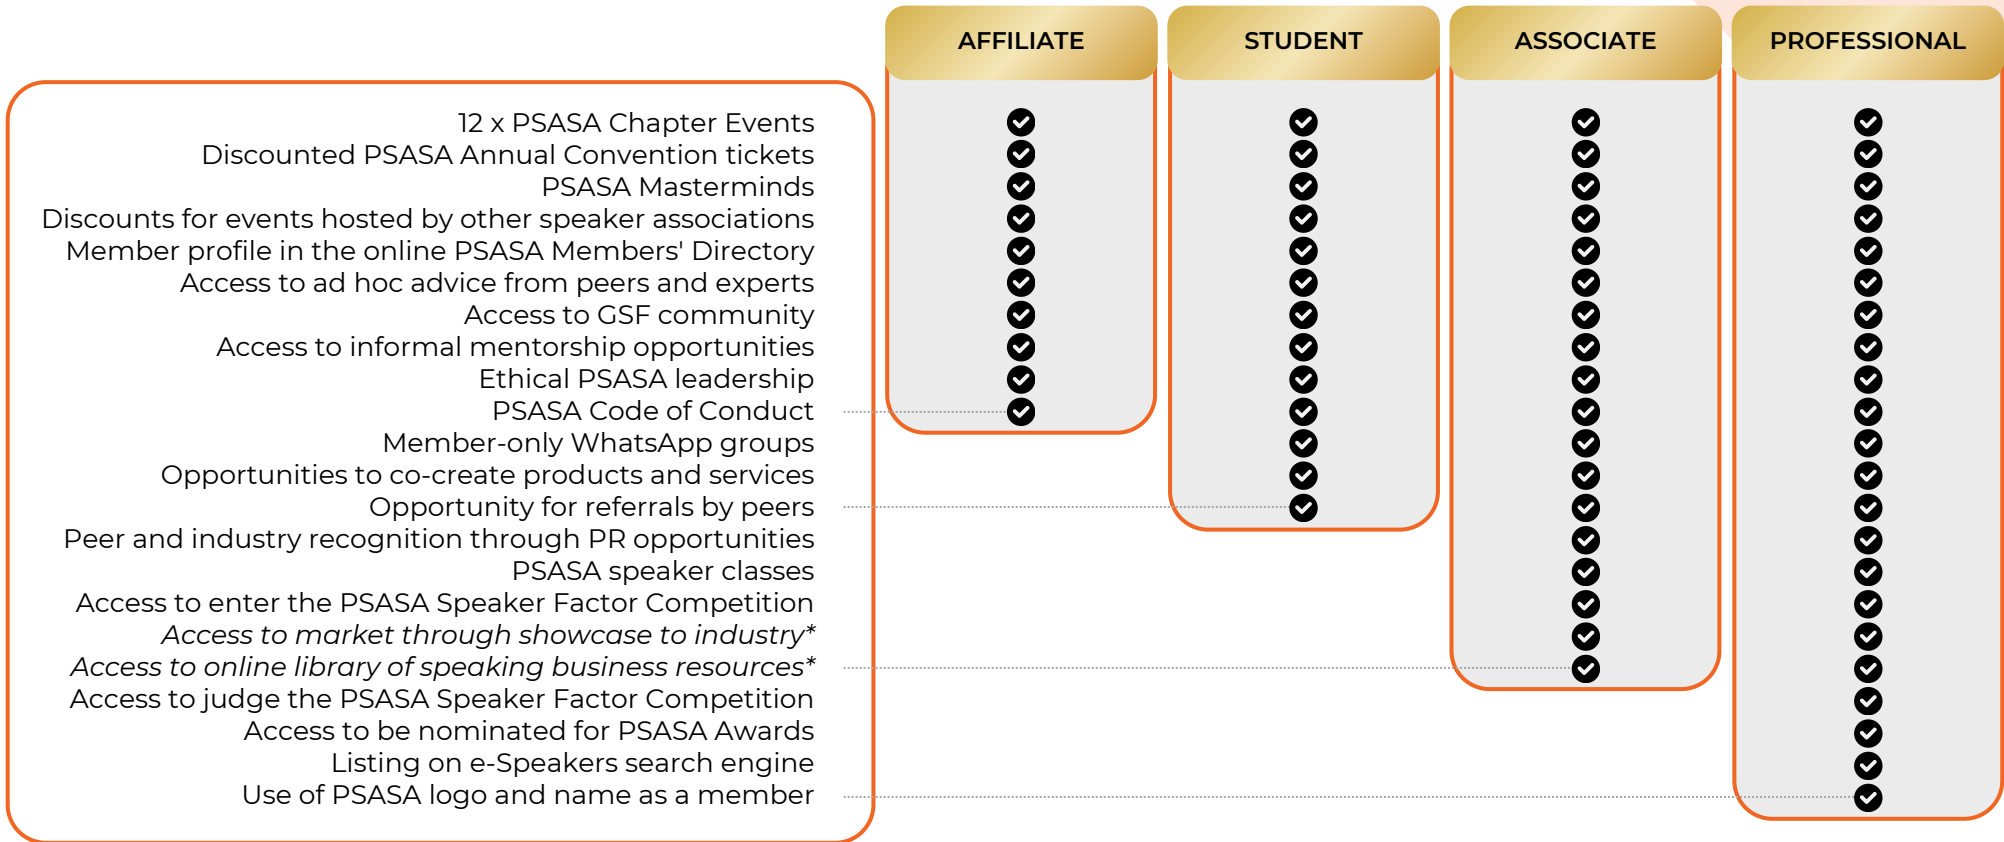

Speakers, facilitators, trainers and coaches starting their careers and intending to build a profitable, sustainable speaking business.

Professional members

People who have already designed a speaking business and are earning their primary income from speaking or speaking related products and services.
